

MAP Program Learning Outcomes Report Summary 2020

The following table summarizes the assessment of PLOs for the MAP program for assessment cycle (2019-20). This process is conducted regularly as part of the annual learning results assessments, which measure two or three PLOs for each program each year. This summary report is to be submitted to the EEC upon its completion.

Evidence	PLO 3: Evaluate key personal and professional ethics affecting psychology professionals There is currently no large sample size for APSY 550. It is a new course that has been developed and just launched in Fall 2 2019. There is currently no sample size for APSY 550. It was revamped and relaunched for Fall 2 2019. The PLO artifact is staying in APSY 550, but the assignment and course itself was determined to be inadequate as a means to assess the PLO, thus the course revision. PLO 4: Evaluate statistical and data analysis There is currently no sample size for APSY 680. It was revamped and relaunched for Fall 2 2019. The PLO artifact is staying in APSY 680, but the assignment and course itself was determined to be inadequate as a means to assess the PLO, thus the course revision. A review of the courses by Dr. Oh and Dr. Kao determined that course revisions were required, and they began course revision without waiting for a formal PLO assessment to show inadequacies in measuring for the PLO. Dr. Christine Oh, Assistant Dean determined, because there is no sample size for

	both PLOs, they need to be assessed in the future once the courses have run a cycle of a full year. She is recommending a revision of when the PLOs can be assessed since all mastery level courses connected to PLOs have been revised in the past year. In 2021, a comprehensive program review will be scheduled. And so, it is her recommendation to push back the PLO assessment another year to assess PLOs 3 and 4 in 2022, PLOs 5 and 6 for 2023 and PLOs 1 and 2 in 2024. It is her recommendation to assess in the time frame it is proposed so that there is time to establish sample sizes in the courses.
