

LOS ANGELES PACIFIC
UNIVERSITY

Associate of Arts in HUMANITIES

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

Serving as a bridge to LAPU's bachelor's degree programs, the 60-credit Associate programs offer students a broad and integrative foundation in the liberal arts or discipline-specific skills. Informed by an explicitly Christian world and life view perspective; the curriculum lays the foundation for knowledge of biblical concepts and ideas, human cultures and the physical and natural world, intellectual and practical skills, personal and social responsibility, and integrative and applied learning.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Students are equipped with knowledge, attitudes, and skills to successfully contribute as responsible members of their communities, both local and global, through learning, working, and living in God's created world. These skills include a working knowledge of liberal arts and sciences, written and oral communication skills, critical thinking abilities, and introductory courses in an applied or professional field. The knowledge, attitudes, and skills are necessary for lifelong learning and for more advanced studies at the bachelor's level.

Highlights

- Prepare for more advanced studies at the bachelor's level
- Gain a broad foundation in the liberal arts
- Develop biblical foundations for a Christian worldview
- Establish habits and skills for lifelong learning
